

LEARNING ENHANCEMENT & EDUCATIONAL CONSULTANCY

Further Support for Your Child in and Beyond the Classroom

The Child Development Team's Learning Enhancement Service provides families with additional educational support for students ages four to seventeen. Our qualified teachers have worked at prestigious international schools in Hong Kong and abroad, and are highly experienced with a range of curriculums including the International Baccalaureate (IB) curriculum and the British National Curriculum.

This service is not simply another private tutoring service. Our teachers design and implement a comprehensive, fully individualised program that complements or supplements what the student is learning in his or her school. We will work closely with classroom / homeroom, and subject teachers to reinforce key teaching concepts, vocabulary, and units of inquiry to consolidate what is being learnt in the classroom. We will also work closely with other key professionals such as psychologists, occupational therapists and speech and language therapists to ensure that the learning enhancement sessions are as productive as possible

Our teachers specialise in working with children and adolescents who learn differently. In addition, our teachers will teach underlying strategies and skills that will enable the student to better access the curriculum at school. For instance, we will teach organisational and time management strategies to improve executive functioning, memory techniques to enhance memory, pre-teach concepts to enhance confidence in the classroom or subject material and so on.

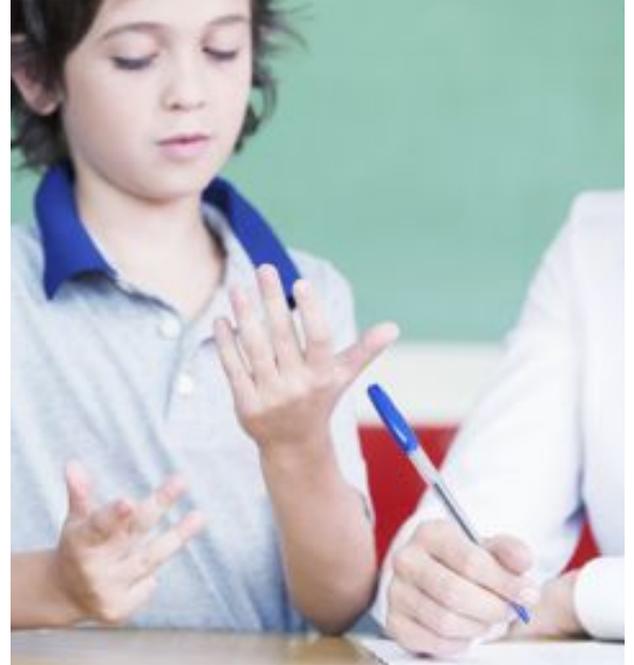

Types of Support Available

- Literacy support (including phonics, reading comprehension, handwriting, spelling and writing composition support)
- Numeracy support
- Homework help
- Pre-teaching and reinforcement of key concepts and ideas (linking to school topics/themes)
- Executive functioning support: developing life skills to support learning
- Enrichment of academics for intellectually and academically advanced students.

Students who may Benefit from this Support:

- Individuals with a specific learning difficulty such as dyslexia, dysgraphia, or dyscalculia
- Individuals who need consolidation or support with their learning
- Individuals who have working memory or other memory challenges
- Individuals with executive functioning, ADHD and other developmental challenges
- Individuals who cannot attend school due to illness, school refusal, or are being home schooled
- Individuals struggling to manage meeting deadlines for coursework such as personal projects, extended essays, internal assessments, and so on.

When accessing our Learning Enhancement service, we typically:

- 1) Conduct an intake parent meeting so parents can explain their concerns and expected outcomes.
- 2) Our teachers will then contact the relevant teachers and staff at school (and any other relevant professionals), to start designing a convenient, integrated learning support plan that consolidates, extends, or reinforces the work the teacher is doing at school.
- 3) In the first session with the student, our teachers will administer some diagnostic assessments to gain further academic information (if warranted). This testing also provides a baseline to measure future progress.
- 4) Present the individualised support plan to parents, teachers, and the student and commence the actual support.
- 5) During the program, our teachers will frequently contact the teacher(s) and will often include parents in the sessions to ensure specific strategies are utilised at home and at school.
- 6) School observations, meetings, and visits can also be conducted to further the partnership between the work completed in the clinic and in the school.
